Mid-Cycle Progress Report

What was our goal?
We have reached the midpoint of our eight week literacy intervention cycle. When we began, we set a goal

- Building knowledge of phonic patterns including short vowels, consonant blends and digraphs.
- Improve accuracy when reading and writing words that include short vowels, consonant blends and digraphs.

How have we been working towards our goal?
We have been working on this goal by ...

- Studying discreet phonic patterns.
- Applying them in reading and writing.
- Reviewing learned patterns regularly through discreet practice and continued application in read writing.

How's it going?

- On a final written assessment of short vowels, blends and digraphs: 18 of 18 correct.
- On a mid unit written assessment of bonus letters (final consonants f, l, s and sometimes z are d when following a single vowel) and glued sounds (ing, ang, ung, ong, ink, ank, unk, onk, all, am, Bonus letters: 1 of 5 correct. Glued sounds 13 of 13 correct.
- On a reading assessment of these phonics patterns given in September, Kyden scored 13/30 (n improvement). His score improved to 23/30 (below) during this 4 week intervention cycle.

What are our next steps?
Our next steps will be to...

- Continue a phonics based approach to reading and writing.
- Continue to review and practice learned concepts.

What was our goal?
We have reached the end of our first literacy intervention cycle. When we began, we set a goal of strengthening _____'s letter/sound connection and phonemic awareness. We have also been learning new snap words - words she knows how to read and write from memory.

How have we been working towards our goal?
We have been working on this goal by practicing our tricky letter sounds (w, q, and the vowels), breaking words into their parts by finding the last sound and middle sound, blending two and three sounds together to read short words, and writing words by stretching out all the sounds we hear. We are also practicing snap words on a word ring and use them daily in our reading and writing.

How's it going?
Letter-Sound Connection - _____ has grown from knowing 13 to 23 of the 26 letter sounds with consistency. The letter q and the vowels e and u are still tricky for her.
Phonemic Awareness - _____ can now consistently find the first and last sound in a word and is getting better at hearing the middle sound. She is beginning to be able to blend three sounds together with consistency.
Snap Words - _____ knows 27 of the 49 of the kindergarten review snap words.
Decoding - _____ is now reading Level B texts with independence and is ready to stretch to Level C books. The first grade winter benchmark is Level D/E.

What are our next steps?
