Interested in volunteer opportunities in the school?

Wondering about how behavior is addressed in the classroom?

Want clarification on what topics/materials are being taught?

Curious about joining the School

Almost always, the teacher or specialist is the first person to ask. Open, honest communication is best for all involved. Email or call the teacher to let them know of your question or concern and set up a time to meet in person or talk over the phone. If your questions pertain to the district or you need additional clarification, after speaking to the principal, then you should contact a central office administrator or the superintendent.

For questions regarding school policies, budget priorities, or the overall health of the school district, the School Committee is ready to hear your ideas and questions. You can reach out individually, send the group an email, or attend a Public Meeting and share your
