Factors Affecting the Implementation of Programming and Services

- ◆ Transitory nature of the school population
- ◆ Special education census of 14.5% (below the 17% State average)
- ◆ Inclusion of special needs students
- ◆ Fiscal factors of special education
- ◆ Out of district placements
- ◆ Advocacy and legal perspective
- ◆ Educational experience

Findings

- ◆ Concern re: balance of special education staffing between campuses, especially with the number of tutors at the Base schools and number of out of district placements
- ◆ Lack of structured planning time between tutors and their respective special education liaison
- ◆ Question of less effective instruction through inclusion rather than instruction in a separate setting

Findings

- ◆ Professional development needs to be expanded, on-going and in-depth over time and focused on the needs of the populations being served
- ◆ Evaluations are being conducted for a high number of 7th and 8th grade students
- ◆ The number of typical students requiring literacy and math support is increasing

Findings

- ◆ Insufficient mental health services provided given the level of student need
- ◆ More focused, concentrated instruction that is substantially separate needed for some students
- ◆ Clarification of the IST process use of data and intervention
- ◆ Establishment of entrance and exit criteria needed for all special education services
- ◆ Increase in common planning time between and among special education staff and special education staff and general education staff needed

Recommendations
