1	In addition to the after labor day start, Please consider converting one 1/2 day Wednesday each month to full days to accommodate an earlier June close to school.	12/19/2017 12:56 AM
2	Start after Labor Day! — can't imagine full attendance from this community if otherwise. Happy to have school out earlier as well (June 20)! But ideally Lincoln Rec summer camps provides earlier options too .... (In this community, last week before Christmas holiday and end of year tends to be more sparsely attended)	12/18/2017 9:25 PM
3	The first version makes it easier for military families who move. Most of our report dates to our new units are 1 July, with school ending so let up here we are forced to ask to report in late due to school schedules.	12/18/2017 7:58 PM
4	For working parents it is imperative that you start AFTER labor day. Labor day is the only universal holiday that we working folks get and thus, please know that having ANY additional "short" weeks of school do not help us. And oh by the way, having school to end of June is a blessing because then we have to plan for and organize, not to mention pay for, A LOT LESS CAMPS. I don't know why we have to start before labor day holiday, it has proven to be a horrible experience the last time around. Please, please choose Version 2.	12/18/2017 2:17 PM
5	Kids are itching to go back by mid/end of August and ready to leave by early June. Kids seem to mentally 'check out' a lot earlier than end of June. Doesn't sound productive to force them to stay through the month of June.	12/18/2017 2:08 PM
6	Very hard to find summer camps in September for parents who must work.	12/18/2017 1:56 PM

7	The kids and I are ready for school by the end of August. We're acclimated to the heat and humidity and are ready for a change of scenery. Camps are closed and the kids miss their friends.	12/18/2017 1:28 PM
8	Observation - little learning occurs after the 18-20th of June. My kids spent time making recycling runs/pulling staples out of cork boards.. Seems wasteful to go this late on v2 - I am sure everyone would deny these recounts of what happens at the end of the year.	12/18/2017 1:12 PM
9	I have not preference between the two but I want the school year to be as close to the LSRHS schedule as possible.	12/18/2017 1:07 PM
10	Option one would have been fine but not with school on the Friday before Labor Day	12/18/2017 1:05 PM

1	Labor Day marks the end of summer fun and activities. The transition back to school should begin after this holiday.	12/20/2017 10:11 PM
2	this year we started after Labor day, it's too late compared with other districts. We should start before labor day please. be in line with our neighbors at LSRHS, start before Labor Day.	12/19/2017 11:12 AM
3	What is the point of the February recess? Seems excessive after a winter break and then a 4 day weekend in January. Perhaps a 3 day weekend in February (President's day), maybe another one in March, and that still leaves you three days of flexibility. Why are there multiple short weeks in September instead of just getting to the school year?	12/19/2017 8:54 AM

1	My thought is student are ready to learn after the summer break. The learning seems to end the first weeks in June.	12/18/2017 5:55 PM
2	Thanks for asking	12/18/2017 3:28 PM
3	I would consider starting before Labor Day if students were off on the Friday before Labor Day making it a long weekend. Also, consideration should be given to having the December break begin on Thursday as many Hanscom students leave for break early and many students are not in school on that day. In addition, it assists faculty in travel to their holiday destinations.	12/18/2017 1:50 PM
4	I really prefer a before Labor Day start. It's much easier to get a few housekeeping things and fun, engaging learning activities to get the kids excited about the class and school year to come when everyone is well adjusted to the heat/humidity. By the end of August, kids are ready to come back and many camps are done for the summer.	12/18/2017 1:25 PM
5	I prefer the second version as I appreciate having Labor Day to finish getting my room ready for the beginning of the year. With so many meetings as well as the meet and greet on the second teacher work day I always end up at school over the long weekend.	12/18/2017 1:19 PM

1	Good Friday should only 1/2 day (in the future.) No Institute Day. Take a survey on holidays.	12/21/2017 6:59 AM
2	The second calendar matches my children's school calendar.	12/20/2017 7:13 PM
3	Something to think about - in the calendar that starts before labor day, when would the screening happen for summer move ins? There are certain staff that are required to start work early before the first day back to do these screenings. This typically happens the Monday before the first Wednesday back, but if all faculty starts on a Monday, would this need to happen the week before?	12/20/2017 6:12 PM
4	I'd be interested in Version 1 if we had the Friday before Labor Day weekend off.	12/20/2017 3:48 PM
5	Several years ago we started school before Labor Day with a calendar similar to version 1, but we also had the Friday of Labor Day weekend off. Many families travel that weekend and often miss the Friday or dismiss early. It was a nice way to ease back into the year with 1.5 school days and an extended weekend.	12/20/2017 11:46 AM
6	I would like to bring up the possibility of switching the Wednesday half day to the Friday before the holiday break in December. We used to do this with plenty of lead time for parents. It would be appreciated by many families and staff who must travel at this busy time of year.	12/19/2017 8:46 AM
7	I like the first calendar but I am voting for the second due to having school on the Friday of Labor Day weekend.	12/19/2017 8:34 AM
